The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ho et al.

Please see the comments made in regard to the above rejection in the previous Office action.

Applicants' arguments filed 8/18/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants have taken great pains to point out how the disclosed invention differs from the stackable fin heat sink of Ho et al. It is not necessary, however, for the purposes of anticipation that the prior art teach what the applicant has disclosed. It is only necessary that the claims "read on" something in the reference<sup>1</sup>. As pointed out previously, Ho et al. can clearly be viewed as disclosing two elements (tab 21 and slot 22, or the web of material disclosed between slots 22 and 23) that present themselves on opposite sides or faces of the plate fins, and are thus readable on the claimed "locking plate" and "blocking portion". Indeed, if these elements did not present on opposed sides of the plate fins, they would not be able to interlock as taught in Ho et al. with the corresponding member of an adjacent plate fin. While it is certainly <sup>1</sup> The "law of anticipation . . . requires that a distinction be made between the invention described or taught and the invention claimed. The law of anticipation does not require that the reference "teach" what the subject patent teaches. Assuming that a reference is properly "prior art," it is only necessary that the claims . . . "read on" something disclosed in the reference, i.e., all limitations of the claim are found in the reference, or "fully met" by it." Kalman v. Kimberly Clark, Corp., 218 U.S.P.Q. 781.

true that the tabs 21 extend across the plane of the fin body to engage the slots 22 and 23, nothing in the claims limits them to a structure where the locking plate does not extend across the plane or “main body” of the plate fin.

Claims 6-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 9-18 are allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
